co-host a

Used Book Sale

at Alamance Presbyterian Church on May 9-11.

Cast your eyes upon the bookcases in your home, and decide which of the vast array of books-in-good-condition-that-someone-might-wish-to-read you can bring yourself to donate to the cause.

Take them off the shelf, dust them thoroughly, remove any old love notes, dried flowers, or stray thousand-dollar bills you've been hiding in them; box them up and prepare to deliver them for sorting — no earlier than April 15.

(We won't have space cleared to display wares until after then.)

- Please do not impose upon us any old sets of encyclopedias. They do not sell, and they don't burn well (we've tried.)
- Please remember that this is a church-sponsored event. Only donate books that your Dear Granny would not blush to read.
- Get ready to swoop upon the shelves May 9-11 to snatch up interesting publications, during the sale.
- Remember that this is a fundraiser for both groups: Don't haggle over a few cents for the books you select.
